

Fonda Smallwood made this beautiful French Braid quilt while taking a class from Brenda Booth. Brenda Booth quilted this quilt for Fonda.

Tina Pratt made this wonderful quilt she calls Summer Bloomers. Another UFO completed!

Faye McKinzie made this quilt she calls Strolling the Block. Faye saw this project on Alex Anderson's show on HGTV back in 2002. The quilt is done with hand appliqué (blanket stitch). She then decided to hand quilt it which took her 8 years to complete!

Judi Carter made this quilt she calls Asian Memories for her brother and his wife. She was inspired by the cover of a Fons and Porter magazine. Judi quilted the quilt using the Cotton Theory method which she says she will never do again on such a large quilt.

Norma Larson made this quilt she calls Crazy Silk Kimonos.
The entire quilt is made of silk! Norma says the quilting patterns were suggested by the fabric patterns as well as the key hole and latches from the chest that the Kimonos were stored in.

Alice Anjo made this quilt she calls Moore. This quilt was made from a Charlotte Angotti class she took in 2009 called “Let me Surprise you . . . More”. Alice says she must be getting better at piecing because some of the points actually match on this quilt!

Jan Thompson made this quilt she calls French Braid Christmas. This table runner was made at a Woodlands Quilt Guild class with her friend, Eileen Urbanek, from Louisville.

June Varner made this quilt she calls Purple French Braid at the same class that Jan took.

June Varner made this quilt she calls Autumn Surprise for her sister. Although June has made her sister a quilted sewing cover and six wall quilts, her sister complained that June never really made her a “quilt”. So this twisted nine patch quilt is to correct this oversight on June’s part!

Liz Goulden made this quilt for her son's 35th birthday after seeing it on display at the "Painted Pony". With help from friends Marjory and Margaret, Liz finally completed the quilt for her son's birthday . . . three years later!
Margaret Erickson did the quilting.
